The Department of Government offers courses at several different levels:

- Prerequisite: a course in the statistics and methods of social sciences (GOVT 10).
- Introductory courses: The Department offers four courses (GOVT 003, 004, 005, and 006), designed to provide an overview of each of the four subfields in Government: American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, and Political Theory & Law. Introductory courses are generally designed to be taken as the first courses in the major and usually not later than the end of a student's second year.
- Midlevel courses: Courses that explore specific topics in Government in greater depth (these courses are assigned numbers between 11 and 69).
- Seminar courses: Advanced, discussion-based, research and writing-intensive courses (these courses are assigned numbers between 80 and 86). Seminars are generally designed to be taken in a student's third or fourth years.
- Upper-level courses: Any course except for introductory or prerequisite courses.

You cannot declare a PPE modified major on DartWorks until you first do the following:

1) Complete the study forms, listing all past, present, and future courses. For the most up-to-date listings of future course offerings, see the Philosophy, Economics, and Government websites. Your future course selections may change, but you must show a complete path through the modified major. ATTENTION: Only study forms currently posted on the Government Department website will be approved.

2) Do not forget to circle one of the "10" courses as a prerequisite.

3) Once your modified major study form is complete, please submit it to Professor Clarke via email for approval:
Michelle.T.Clarke@dartmouth.edu

4) If approved, Professor Clarke will forward your study form to the Department Administrator who can help you declare your PPE major on Dartworks.

5) If you have further questions about these PPE majors or about how to complete your study form, please email Professor Clarke. We can arrange a meeting if necessary.

Special Provisions

1. Check the prerequisites for the courses you want to enroll. All prerequisites must be completed before taking the ECON courses.
2. Students should be aware that transfer credits may not qualify for the modified majors (transfer credits for courses in the Economics Department are never accepted for the Government Modified With Economics major). Students considering using transfer credits for any of the modified majors must contact the Government department to verify that the course will be accepted.
3. Every year, we revise and update the information available in this study form. Sometimes the departments make changes between the revisions. Please check the economics and philosophy departments' websites for updated information.
